“ Nate was my best friend in elementary school and we always had so much fun together riding bikes, building forts, playing video games and, of course, with our Ninja Turtles. He was such a creative, nice and sensitive guy. I can't believe he's gone, but will hold on to many, many great memories of fun times with a great friend.

“ I worked as a vocational support trainer for 1 of Nates clients for the better part of 14 years, and had much interaction with Nate. He was the most caring, patient, supportive, guy, and knew how to make a heavy situation lighter. He had a huge heart, and cared deeply for his clients, knowing what they needed, and what they didnt. The world needs more Nates.

“Mate, I will miss working nights with you, felt like the only person that would be as creative as I liked to be with meal times for the guys. I will also miss chatting about video games or movies...on of the few people where we could relate to each other! I will also miss making each other laugh, fare well...

“Nate and I spent a lot of time together in junior high — drawing (he was always wayyyy better than me), playing video games, or drawing up our own blueprints for games. I always appreciated the fact that he was a superior artist, yet he never criticized my mediocre talent. Thoughts go out to his parents and J.J.

“Nate and I both shared our first job together at Randy's Family Restaurant back in the mid 90s. He made it easy for the shift to go by with a smile on my face. Rest in Peace Old Friend.
