“ Norman was my dad's cousin. Dad loved his letters as they reconnected later in life, enough to frame a card that Norman sent him. He would visit Aunt Julia's farm as a young child and I recall the time we visited as a teen. Norman's letters were enjoyable.

“ My husband Kevin and I helped Norman out when he had both of his cataract surgeries. He spent the night after surgery at our home so he did not have to be alone. I think he would have been happy to stay longer as he had meals cooked for him and he got to watch tv!! He was always so happy and never stopped talking; he had so many stories to share. He allowed us to cut boughs on his property many years and always came back to chat while we were cutting or on our way out. What a great loss to the Glidden Community, he was always happy and seemed to not have a care in the world.
